It's Easy To Dye with Diamond Dyes

Diamond Dyes are specially prepared for home use, and are so simple and practical that any one can color dresses, cloaks, ribbons, coats, feathers, stockings, etc., fast and beautiful colors with these dyes. They make rich and fashionable colors that will not fade or crock.

There are sixteen special dyes for coloring cotton and mixed goods. No dye will give a perfect color on both cotton and wool, and hence these special cotton colors of the Diamond are very popular and useful.

Brightest and Strongest of all Dyes.

Diamond Dyes are positively guaranteed to color more goods, package for package, than any other dyes on the market, and to make colors that are bright and true to name.

There are three special Diamond Dye Blacks, for wool, for cotton and mixed goods, and for silk and feathers. They are made from patented dyestuffs that cannot be had in other dyes, and produce colors so fast that even soapsuds cannot wash them out.

Health Lost and Regained.

Men and Women Point to Paine's Celery Compound as Their Great Deliverer from Disease and Death.

This booklet has a message of comfort, hope and warning for every weak, sick and diseased man and woman in this broad country. The words of comfort, cheer and hope that are prominent in every letter of testimony, form anthems of praise for the triumphs achieved by Paine's Celery Compound.

No sane person will for a moment doubt the truthfulness of the convincing testimonials that are submitted here as proofs of what Paine's Celery Compound can do for the sick. These letters have come voluntarily from people once sick and sorely afflicted—they are the utterances of thankful hearts for rescues from the thralldom of disease and death. The writers are now enjoying health, strength and a full measure of happiness, and can be interviewed or written to by the skeptical and unbelieving.

Hard, solid facts and proofs from well-known individuals are as strong and unassailable as mountains of adamant.

That Paine's Celery Compound is able to overcome weakness, sickness and disease after the doctors have failed to restore health is now freely admitted by all who have tested the wonderful medicine. No other prescription in the world has such a glorious record of life saving; no other has ever brought so much true joy and gladness to heavy and despondent hearts.

Special words of warning are directed to those who should make immediate use of Paine's Celery Compound. It is extremely unwise to allow any of the symptoms of disease to develop so as to endanger life. A bottle or two of Paine's Celery Compound used when you feel out-of-sorts, when you experience tired feelings, headache, debility, constipation, nervousness, sleeplessness and the first symptoms of kidney and liver complaints will save you a world of trouble and suffering.

Paine's Celery Compound is today the people's medicine; our best physicians prescribe it regularly, and the entire press of the American continent has given the great medicine more prominence than has ever been accorded to any other medical prescription. Millions know that Paine's Celery Compound "makes sick people well."

Senators and Representatives Say Paine's Celery Compound Made Them Well.

Among the thousands of testimonials to the wonderful curative powers of Paine's Celery Compound, there are many strong endorsements from senators, representatives, state governors, and other eminent men of public affairs, all of whom are willing that their experiences should be published, believing rightly that they will do good to others.

No other remedy was ever used and recommended by so many men of sound and reliable judgment; no medicine but Paine's Celery Compound has ever been endorsed by such a conspicuous body of men and women as have spoken in praise of this great discovery.

Among the congressmen who have endorsed Paine's Celery Compound are Neill of Arkansas, Bell of Colorado, Pritchard of North Carolina, and many others whose names are familiar all over the country.

Representative Powers of Vermont in a recent letter, says: "I have for several years been acquainted with the medicinal qualities of Paine's Celery Compound, and can enthusiastically endorse it as a specific in many cases for which its use is recommended by its proprietors."

Paine's Celery Compound is the one real spring medicine known today that never fails to benefit. Get Paine's Celery Compound, and only Paine's Celery Compound, if you wish to be well.

School Teachers Are Often Vic- tims of Insomnia, Dyspepsia and Nervousness.

Paine's Celery Compound
Gives Prompt Relief and a Permanent Cure Even in the Most Desperate Cases.

School teachers—male and female—too often become failures in their noble profession simply because they do not keep up a full supply of nerve force and pure blood. They are subject to nervousness, insomnia, constipation and dyspepsia. Then follow irritability, bad temper, impatience and despondency. When a teacher's life is thus burdened, success is impossible; the young are neglected or badly managed, and discerning officials soon make changes for the public good.

Paine's Celery Compound is doing a quiet but marvellous work to-day for school teachers in every part of the United States. Hundreds of intelligent men and women educating the young are kept well from year to year by the health-giving virtues of earth's best medicine. Its record of work is astounding. It has plucked from the grave and raised to a new life thousands of men and women in all classes of society. It gives fresh, pure blood, steady nerves, perfect digestion, clear brain and robust health to all who use it.

Miss Clara I. Goodfellow, principal in Dist. No. 4, of Chicago, says:

"Paine's Celery Compound is a splendid remedy for building up a broken down constitution. I have spent fifteen years in the school room, and have found it hard on my nervous system, but Paine's Celery Compound restored my mind and body more than anything else I ever tried. I have found it a true friend."

A Dignitary of the Roman Catholic Church

Paine's Celery Compound Has Done a Marvellous
Work for Him.

Amongst the influential clergymen and church dignitaries of North America few command greater prominence than Rev. J. A. Gravel, Vicar General, of Quebec, Canada.

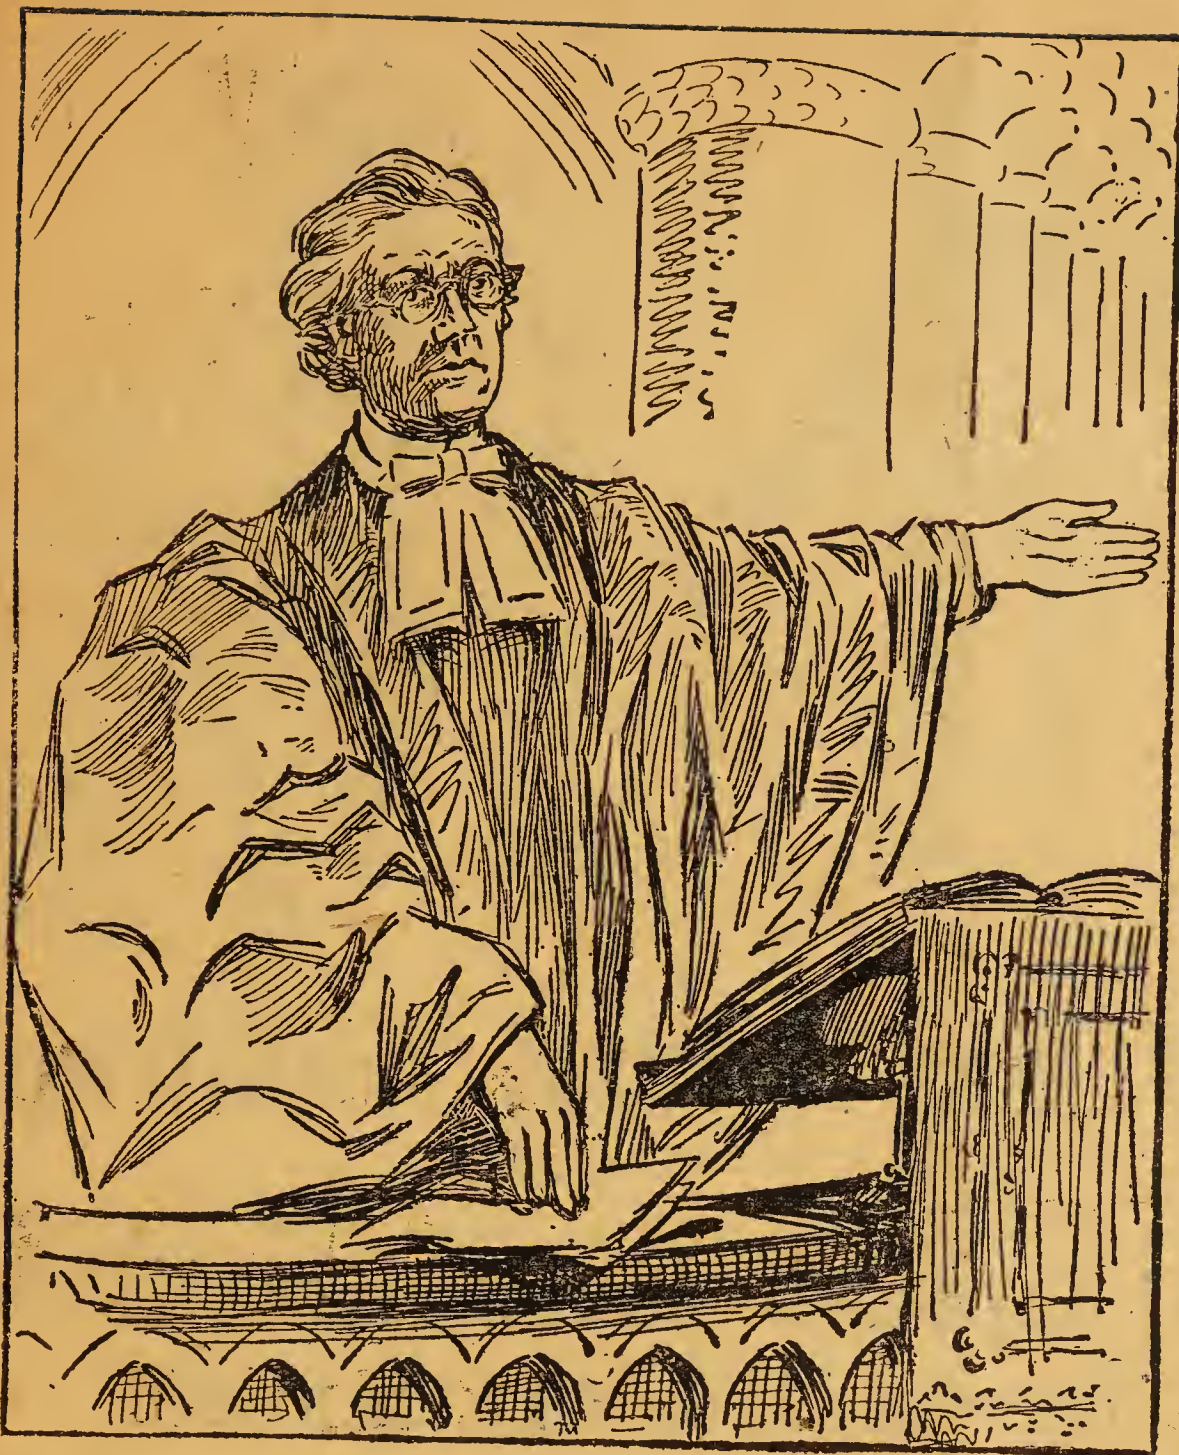

This eminent clergyman—in rank next to a bishop—has, like hundreds of other clergymen in our land, tested the life-giving and blood-cleansing virtues of Paine's Celery Compound, and has not been disappointed.

We think every fair minded man and woman, will acknowledge that prominent and leading members of the clergy never give written testimony for the purpose of bolstering up deceptions and frauds. They all speak of Paine's Celery Compound with a noble object in view. They have found a friend, helper and life-giver in their time of distress, and they are anxious that other sufferers should share the blessings that flow from such a source.

In a letter dated October 1st, 1898, Vicar General Gravel writes as follows about Paine's Celery Compound:

"I am perfectly in a position to declare that for the last four months I have made constant use of Paine's Celery Compound, and that I have already obtained therefrom the best results for plethora, depression or prostration of the nervous system, dizziness and partial paralysis. It is the best depurative that I know of. I am just now completing by means of that remedy the full cure of a nasty eczema which made me suffer for the last four years, also an incipient angina of the chest."

Paine's Celery Compound Has Proved a Great Blessing to Clergymen.

Recommended at All Times by Pastors to Their Parishioners.

It Gives Strength, Vigor and
New Life When the System is Rundown.

The faithful and laborious clergyman is frequently a physical sufferer. His chief troubles and sufferings result from a disorganized nervous system, mental exhaustion and over-work. Rest from regular work and duties, and change of air may, for a brief time, bring relief, but a thorough cure, which means strength, activity, strong nerves, pure blood and a vigorous mental condition, can only be brought about by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Scores of clergymen of all denominations have generously spoken strong words in favor of Paine's Celery Compound and recommended it from day to day.

Rev. Dr. T. F. C. James, Rector of St. Paul's Church, Ironton, Mo., writes:

"I have been suffering for over three years with a severe rheumatic affliction of my right shoulder and arm, so much so at times as not to be able to remove my clothing. I was in a very painful condition, and the affection extended to my right side as far as the region of my liver. Since I have been using Paine's Celery Compound, the change has been remarkable, and I have greatly improved in every way. My whole system seems to be invigorated, and every organ of elimination perfectly healthy and vigorous. Digestion is everything I could wish; my liver and kidneys act well; in fact, every organ seems to be stimulated to healthy and normal action.

You are at liberty to use this as you please. I am in public life, and am well known, and I now invite any persons who wish to address me privately or otherwise, and I will cheerfully respond in reference to what I have herein written."

Take Care of the School Children.

Paine's Celery Compound Gives the Little Ones Strong Nerves, Healthy Bodies, and Buoyant Spirits.

The nervous system of the ordinary school boy and school girl is just as delicate, sensitive and easily disordered as your own. Too many school children suffer from troubles brought on by weakened nerves. Close schoolwork, over-study and sitting in badly ventilated class rooms are causes of sickness and disease that many parents do not fully recognize.

When the first indications of nervous troubles are detected; when headache is complained of; when variable appetite, pale cheeks, lustreless eyes and loss of sleep are noted, use at once the proper remedy—Paine's Celery Compound. It is the only medicine that perfectly meets the needs of the children; it is the only nerve, tissue and flesh builder that is entirely free from dangerous narcotics and opiates. Paine's Celery Compound soon repairs interrupted digestion, it keeps the bowels regular, and gives that youthful spring and vitality that all youngsters require to make them robust men and women.

John L. Spencer, of 3039 Bloomington Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"My two little children suffered for months with a terrible breaking out on their faces and hands, which physicians pronounced a skin disease. We had two different doctors to see them but they couldn't help, and the children were getting worse all the time. I got a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound and gave it to them and it seemed to help them, so I got another and after using three bottles they were nearly well. At the present time they are recovering and enjoying good health. I am positive Paine's Celery Compound cured them. My wife is using a bottle of the Compound for weakness and is improving."

Our Farmers Rejoice in New Health When They Use Paine's Celery Compound.

The farmers of our fair country should always be men of strength and muscle.

Providence intended they should be giants in health, but exposure to varied temperatures, overwork and careless living, make physical wrecks of many of our farmers before they attain the age of fifty years.

The farmer's worst enemies are catarrh, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, blood diseases and liver and kidney complaints. Wherever Paine's Celery Compound has been used for these diseases there has never yet been failure or disappointment.

This great medical prescription goes quickly to the seat of trouble and removes the cause. The shrunken, tired nerves, tissues and muscles of the body are supplied with true nourishment, and the digestive system fully set in order.

Try Paine's Celery Compound, dear farmer friends, if you are weak, sick or diseased.

Thomas Harrison, the great wheat farmer of the Northwest, who resides at Blanchard, No. Dakota, says:

"Two years ago, when the grip was prevalent in this country, I suffered very much from this trouble. The disease lingered with me until it developed into catarrh of the head. For this loathsome trouble I tried many remedies advertised for catarrh, without any permanent relief. Seeing Paine's Celery Compound recommended, I tried it, not expecting much relief, as I thought I could not be cured. I used one bottle as directed, and was entirely and permanently cured. This was over three years ago, and I have not experienced a return of any of the symptoms, though I have been exposed to the inclement weather in North Dakota, and have not caught the least cold this winter, when, had I been troubled with catarrh, I would have had cold after cold all winter. I will cheerfully answer any inquiries as to the correctness of my statement."

Paine's Celery Compound Gives Business Men New Life.

IT PERMANENTLY REMOVES EVERY TRACE OF DISEASE.

There are thousands of business men in the United States today suffering from troubles that result wholly from a too close application to work. Business cares and worries conduce to nerve disturbances, neuralgia, indigestion and sleeplessness; the blood becomes foul and impure, producing headache and disordered liver.

Business men, and women as well, who almost live at their work, invariably find Paine's Celery Compound a positive and permanent cure for their overwrought bodies and brain. Paine's Celery Compound fully restores nervous energy, and gives a pure supply of blood capable of carrying an abundance of brain and nerve elements to every weak part, thus ridding the body of every trace of disease.

Samuel H. Barnes, a prominent business man in New Haven, Conn., writes:

"In the year of 1863 I was taken with a breaking out on my breast of terrible itching, so much so that I could not sleep nights. It went all over my body. I went to a doctor and he said I had eczema, and he gave me medicine, but it did not do me any good, and there was no cure. Then, for 26 years, I traveled from one doctor to another, but I did not get much help. But here I am now, after taking 14 bottles of Paine's Celery Compound, with my skin as soft as a child's and as smooth as any healthy man's can be. I am well; better than I have been for 26 years. I go to bed and sleep as good as a child, and have done the hardest kind of work this winter. And now if there is any one who is afflicted with this disease, in the name of all that is good, try Paine's Celery Compound, and do not stop until you are well, for you can rest assured that it will do its work."

Paine's Celery Compound for Weak, Overwork- ed Mothers.

Physicians Gladly Prescribe It.

Heaven help the thousands of dear mothers who suffer from troubles brought on by overwork, cares and worries of the home!

These busy, faithful and worn out women must have their attention directed without delay to woman's true and never-failing friend—Paine's Celery Compound—which alone can meet their weaknesses and physical troubles.

Medical science devised Paine's Celery Compound, a medicine uniformly successful in curing the ills which afflict women, and doctors never hesitate to prescribe it.

When women are nervous, weak, tired, have dyspepsia, backache, sideache, headache or any of the nameless ills from which they suffer in silence, Paine's Celery Compound will impart strength to every organ, and quickly restore the greatest blessing of life—health.

The past history of Paine's Celery Compound is a grand record of victories and triumphs over disease and suffering.

Mrs. Frank A. Davis, 2228 Blake St., Berkeley, Cal., says:

"I am glad to tell you that I think just as well of Paine's Celery Compound as when I first commenced to use it in the spring of 1896. I am taking it at the present time, and I am also giving it to my little girl, aged eight years. The early spring of this year tried her very much, and she lost appetite and flesh and was tired all the time. She is much improved since taking the Compound, and I shall continue giving it to her for awhile. I have gotten run down through overwork and worry, so have commenced taking the Compound again and hope soon to be better. I can highly recommend Paine's Celery Compound for all tired, overworked people."

Druggists Recommend Paine's Celery Compound as the Most Valuable Medicine in Their Stock.

While there may be a few druggists in different parts of the country who simply for the sake of a little extra profit recommend some cheap preparation instead of Paine's Celery Compound, yet druggists as a class realize that there is no medicine on their shelves which anywhere near equals in value Paine's Celery Compound.

The druggist has seen customers come to his store with nerves so weak and shattered that they could scarcely walk, yet after using this Compound for a little while, they have been as strong and vigorous as any one. He has read in the daily press endorsements from the most prominent men of the country, and knows that a medicine could not receive testimonials like these unless it possessed unusual merit and value. Paine's Celery Compound has received scores of testimonials from druggists whom it has cured and who are today living testimonials of its great curative powers.

The largest wholesale drug house in the world is the Meyer Bros. Drug Co. of St. Louis, and one of its most trusted employees is Herman Finke, who writes: "About a year ago I suffered from nervousness. I tried several remedies which failed to give me relief. I used one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound. I have not suffered since. As a result of the use of the Compound, I have not had any tired feeling through the summer and spring. I have recommended Paine's Celery Compound to several of my friends who find I am right in saying that it is a nerve remedy that has no equal. It is good when one is sick, and when healthy, it keeps the system strong."

Make the Lives of Our Old People Happy.

Paine's Celery Compound
Gives Fresh Nerve Force,
Pure Blood, Perfect Digestion and Assimilation and Sweet Sleep.

Disordered nerves, rheumatism, indigestion, flatulence, constipation, drowsiness, palpitation of the heart and impoverished blood are some of the burdens that our old people have to contend with—troubles that make them grow weaker from day to day.

For men and women advanced in years, Paine's Celery Compound is precious and invaluable.

It gives fresh nerve force, a plentiful supply of pure, fresh blood, it regulates the digestive machinery, keeps the appetite natural and healthy, and gives sweet and restful sleep. If we would add to the comfort and happiness of our old people and prolong their years, we should see that they are provided with nature's rejuvenator—Paine's Celery Compound.

Thousands of testimonials from old people speak volumes for the life-giving virtues of the grand medicine. Paine's Celery Compound is truly a blessing to the aged; it bestows peace and comfort and keeps them entirely free from old age infirmities.

Rev. Daniel Archer, an old gentleman of Madison, Cal., writes as follows:

“My age is eighty-one. Paine's Celery Compound has proved to be the essential remedy for my trouble of chronic costiveness, serious dizziness and sleeplessness. After taking two bottles I was released from all previous sorrow and distress and gained nineteen pounds, running up to my normal weight. It is a radical restorative from nervous debility.”

Danger Signals for Railroad Men.

Paine's Celery Compound Has Saved the Lives of Thousands of Railroad Employees.

As a class, railroad men are continually beset with certain ailments which, when neglected, soon incapacitate them for active duty. Railroad men quickly contract nervous troubles; these danger signals point to rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver affections and stomach derangements.

To-day, hundreds of men in connection with our great railway lines are sick while they work, or are laid up on beds of suffering.

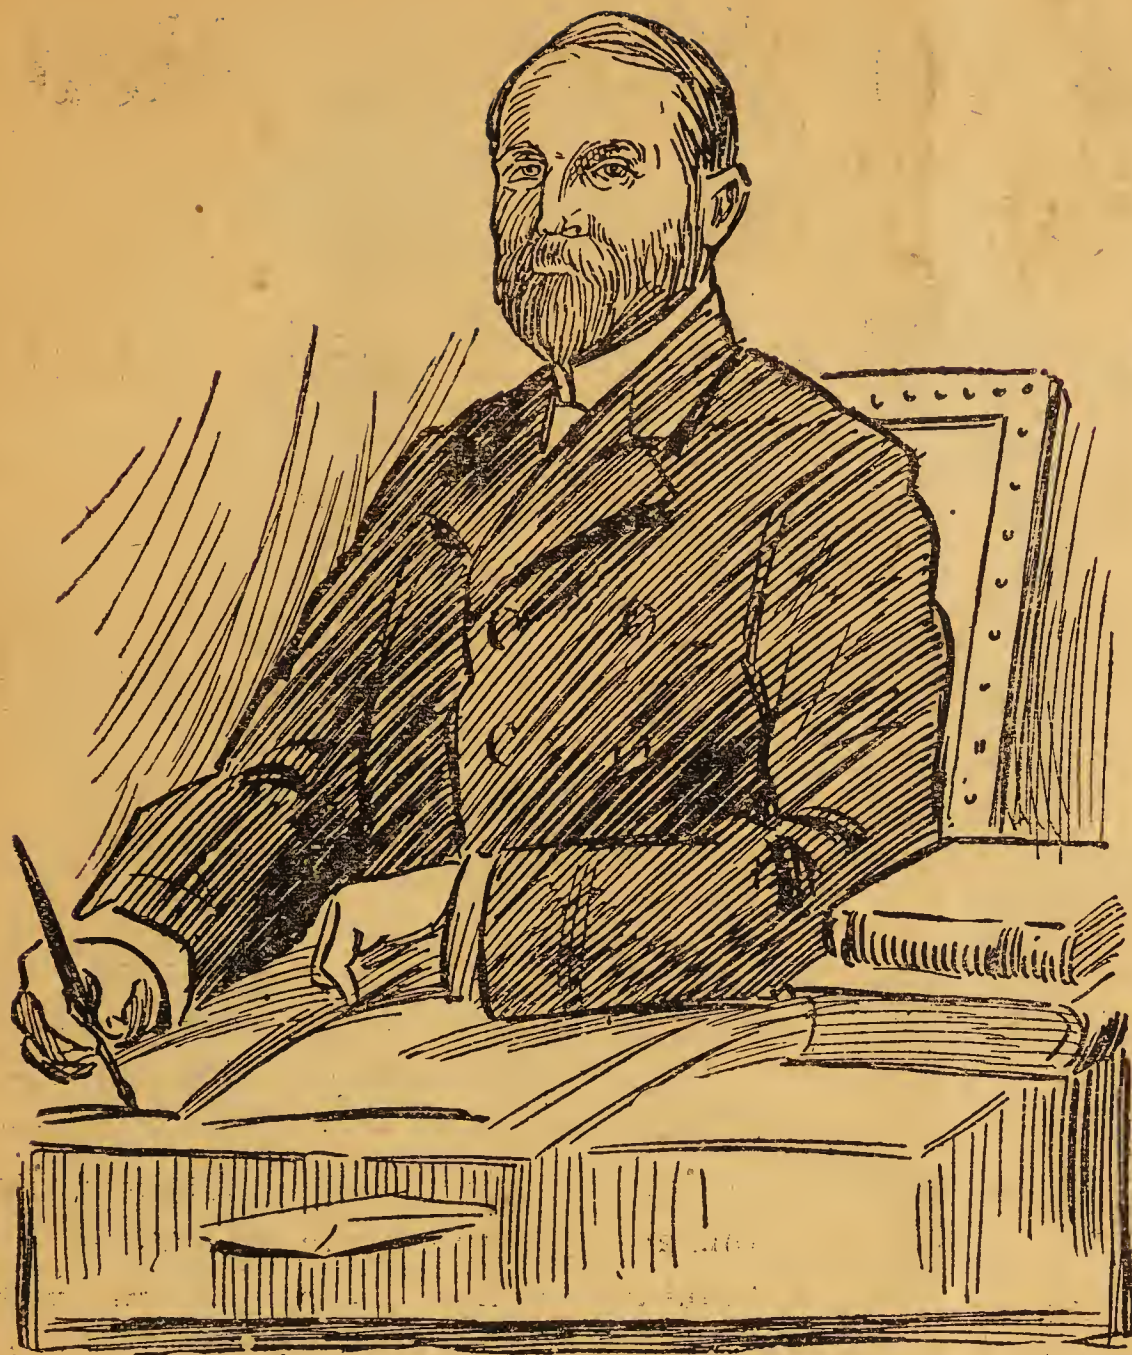

Paine's Celery Compound has done a grand and noble work for our railway men. Conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen in every part of the United States owe their present good health to the wonderful curing virtues of Paine's Celery Compound, and make use of it whenever they feel out-of-sorts from protracted labors or other causes. The use of the great medicine has banished their diseases and troubles in many an instance after all other medicines had failed.

Mr. Thomas Fowler, of Escanaba, Mich., a conductor on the Chicago & Northwestern R. R., says:

"One night I was taken with a dull, heavy pain over the heart. The following night the pain came again, worse than before.

"The next morning I went to a doctor and got some medicine, but the pain came back, so I went to a drug store and purchased a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound. After the first dose I had no pain, and that night I slept as well as I ever did in my life and have had no pain whatever since.

"Paine's Celery Compound only needs to be known to be used in every family. It is my earnest wish that the sick everywhere may know of and receive that benefit which was received by me."

Capitalists, Bankers, Real Estate and Financial Men Restored to Health by Paine's Celery Compound.

Sickness and disease visit the prince as well as the humblest subject.

Our bankers, real estate and great financial men have their trials and physical sufferings like those in humbler stations of life.

Social standing or wealth cannot bar the progress of disease when rules of health are disregarded and violated.

Nothing more decisively proves the worth, popularity and universal use of Paine's Celery Compound than the fact of its being used by the wealthy as well as by the great army of toilers in our land. Our merchant princes, bankers, financial men and their families use the great medicine because it banishes sickness of every form, and establishes that perfect health which makes life happy and enjoyable.

Mr. C. J. Williams, a Chicago real estate man, whose office is at 216 La Salle St., says:

"I took seven bottles of that wonderful medicine, Paine's Celery Compound, in the spring months and was more than pleased with the good results. When I commenced to take it I was unable to attend to my business. I had been a sufferer from catarrh for ten years, and was bothered with constipation and headache all the time. I had no appetite, was losing in weight and could not sleep without taking morphine. I had doctored under some of Chicago's best specialists with poor results, but from the time I finished taking your medicine, I have been a well man, my appetite is good, I sleep well, have no headache, bowels regular, and I have gained twenty-three pounds in weight. I can recommend Paine's Celery Compound to the world."

Sickly and Weak Young Women in Large City Stores.

Paine's Celery Compound
Renews Their Vitality and Brings Back the Bloom of Perfect Health.

Long hours, close confinement, imperfect ventilation, excitement and worry, soon leave marks of creeping disease and sickness.

Headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, constipation, nervousness, heart troubles and neuralgia make the lives of many girls a misery. In hundreds of cases the traces of terrible blood troubles are seen in the faces of those that should look comely and attractive.

To the saleswomen of our cities and towns Paine's Celery Compound is a blessed messenger of health and vitality. It has raised up many a shop girl from despondency and sickness to new life and vigor. A dose of Paine's Celery Compound before each meal, and another before retiring at night, will soon bring the rosy blush of health to the pale face, and give restful sleep and perfect digestion.

Miss Anna Granahan, 129 Chestnut street, Chicago, Ill., says :

"I have used Paine's Celery Compound for quite a while, and I must say that it is about the only thing that keeps me up. I have been very sick, and have tried everything. I had the best doctors, but it seemed as though I could never get strong. After I took one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound I could feel myself getting stronger. A number of my friends have tried it, and every one of them say that it is just splendid. It has helped me wonderfully, and I shall always advise anyone who is not feeling well, to try it."

The Most Noted Trainers and Athletes on this Continent Recommend Paine's Celery Compound.

The athlete must be a vigorously healthy man if he would excel in any line of popular athletics. He must have a perfectly balanced nervous system, his blood must be fresh and pure, and his digestive organs must be at all times in the best of condition.

Many of our best athletes lose position and proficiency through the little ills of life brought on by neglect of rules of instructors. They suffer from headache, insomnia, nervous complaints, constipation and stomach troubles.

For many years Paine's Celery Compound has been the chosen health restorer of America's best athletes. It has proved a great strength-giver, and has kept in perfect condition men who have made world-wide reputations. No wonder that the best trainers and most prominent athletes so strongly recommend the great medicine.

J. R. Watson, of Boston, holding the world's championship as a jumper and pole vaulter, says: "The strongest of athletes often feels languid and drawn out. I have tried many things, but have found nothing that does me as much good as Paine's Celery Compound."

Michael, the great bicyclist, Hjertberg, the champion steeple-chaser, and many other champion athletes have declared that Paine's Celery Compound is the great tonic, regulator, nerve-bracer and strength-giver for all who are out-of-sorts, weak, run-down or suffering from any ailment of the system.

Paine's Celery Compound.

What it Does for Bag- gage Masters and Railroad Men Gener- ally.

The character of work done by the baggage master demands honesty, alertness, vigilance and arduous labors at all seasons of the year. The efficient official must brave the storms of winter; he must face the chilling winds of spring and autumn, and suffer the intolerable heat of midsummer. As a result, the strongest men are often the victims of sickness and disease. Rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles, weakness and nervousness afflict many a worthy rail-road man. Like men in other stations of life, many seek renewed health and strength from the ordinary medicines of the day, and too often suffer sad disappointment.

Scores of railroad officials in various parts of the United States have been blessed with new life and long years through the use of Paine's Celery Compound, nature's medicine that never fails in times of distress and suffering. The names of many well known engineers, conductors, baggage masters, postal clerks and other railroad employees could be given who have been saved from death by Paine's Celery Compound.

BURLINGTON, VT., Jan. 6, 1899.
Wells, Richardson & Co.,

Gentlemen:—Paine's Celery Compound has been a great help to me, for my work exposes me to sudden changes in the weather and considerable hard strain on the muscles and this makes me liable to more or less rheumatism and back-ache, and for all this Paine's Celery Compound has been a cure when I have used it. I know many railroad men who use no other medicine but this, for they say it is the only one that can always be relied upon. If I get a little malaria or feel out of sorts in any way, I take a dose or two of Paine's Celery Compound, and am then all right.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN NOLAN,

Station Baggage Master.

The Favorite Medicine of Society People.

Paine's Celery Compound a Marvelous Invigorator for All Those Whose Nerves are Weakened by the Late Hours and Strain of Intense Social Life.

There exists among society women a kind of weariness that comes from overtaxed nerves, which is more intense and depressing than any weariness that is the result of muscular labor.

Nervous prostration, nervous indigestion, neuralgia, sleeplessness, hysteria, or a never ceasing headache, result from this social excitement.

Hosts of society women depend upon Paine's Celery Compound to give them relief from their aches, weaknesses and tired feelings.

Women and men who have lost flesh and grown pale and lifeless looking gain quickly in health when they use Paine's Celery Compound, and today it is the favorite medicine with leading women in the highest circles of society in Washington, New York, Chicago, and all the large cities.

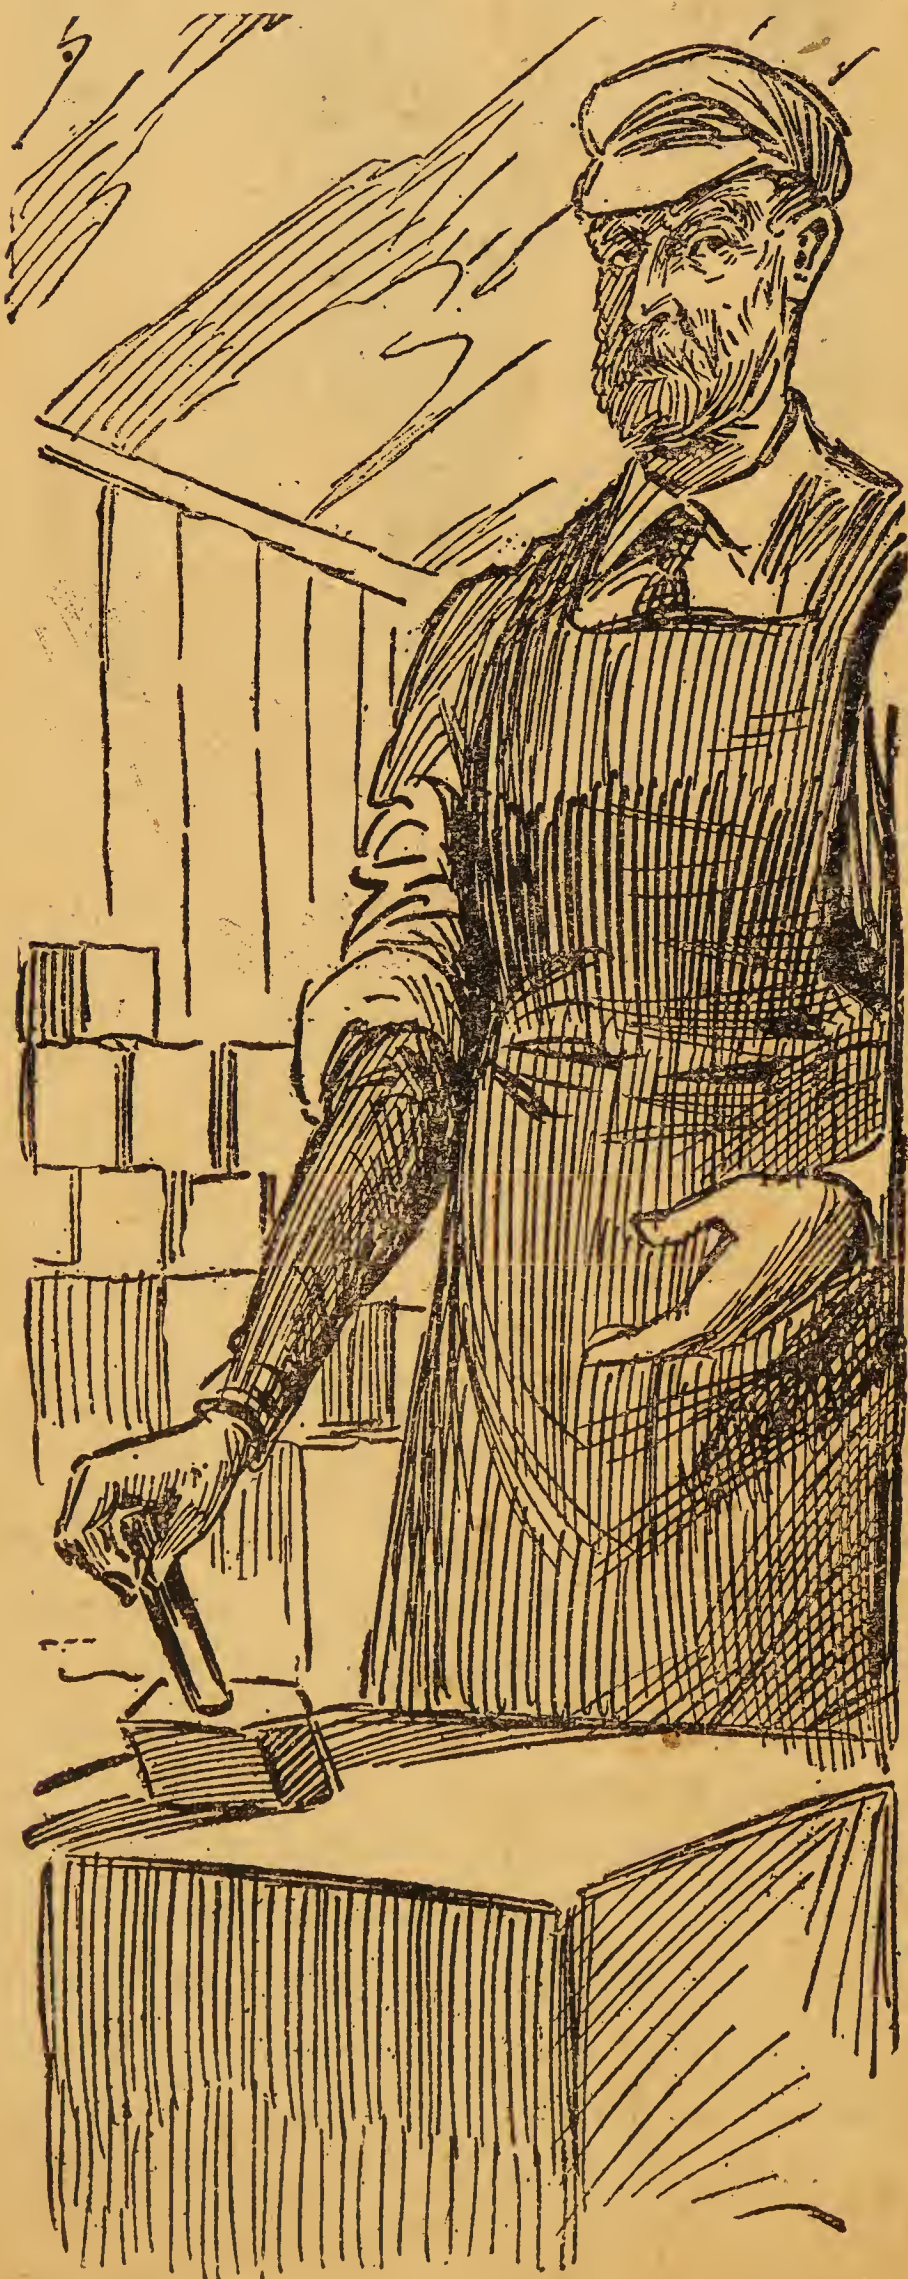

Mrs. Mayme L. Haines, one of New York's most popular society women tells of the wonderful power of Paine's Celery Compound to give strength and health to the tired nerves. She writes :

"Two years ago I was almost a wreck from nervous prostration, resulting from overwork, mental and physical. I had lost my memory completely, and friends feared I would never recover. After trying several remedies to no avail, my physician recommended Paine's Celery Compound, and within a few days there was a decided improvement in my condition. After the use of three bottles, I was so much better that it was unnecessary for me to continue its use. Since then I have recommended it widely, and have yet to hear that it has failed to do all I claimed for it. I can and do heartily recommend Paine's Celery Compound."

Warning Words for Blacksmiths.

Paine's Celery Compound the One Medicine That Will Save the Health and Lives of Those Who Work at the Forge.

Taken as a class, no men seem more vigorous or healthy than the blacksmith, the horseshoer, and all workers in iron and steel. Yet they are peculiarly susceptible to disease, owing to their being exposed to so many sudden changes of heat during their working hours, and their liability to strains from heavy lifting. Health and strength are more necessary for success and happiness in this trade than in almost any other, for the weak man cannot hammer the glowing iron with any degree of success.

Kidney troubles, indigestion, and liver complaint will wreck the blacksmith's life unless at the first warning symptom of disease Paine's Celery Compound is used. This grand medicine will give perfect health and strength, and keep the muscles firm and hard, and make the blood pure and healthy.

Among blacksmiths and horseshoers, there is no one who has won more medals and diplomas at his trade than George C. Henderson, 129 Grand River Ave., Detroit, Mich., who writes the following:

"We keep Paine's Celery Compound in the house all the time as a family medicine.

"From 150 pounds I have grown to 197 pounds in a very short time, and every one says, 'How fat you are getting, Mr. Henderson,' and I know this to be a fact.

"I would say to you puny weaklings, if you take Paine's Celery Compound and plenty of good, wholesome food, fresh air, and a reasonable amount of exercise, you will say with me that it is the best renovating medicine in the world."

Paine's Celery Compound the Never Failing Friend of Writers and Literary Workers.

It is significant how unanimous men and women of professional life, whether editors, teachers, writers, or physicians, are in regard to Paine's Celery Compound. As a nerve strengthener for the exhausting strain of their labors, nothing equals this great medicine.

The gentler sex, whose work is done at the expense of a more severe strain on their nerves, especially find this great remedy a blessing to them.

Tired out and nervous from long hours of weary writing, the authoress becomes disheartened and susceptible to the inroads of disease. Let her use Paine's Celery Compound, and see how much happier life will become when her nerves are strengthened and her whole system nourished and invigorated by means of this great remedy.

From the testimonials that have been received from well known writers, it gives us much pleasure to print the following statement from Mrs. Allie L. Nay, the popular New England authoress. Mrs. Nay says: "Ever since I was a child, I have suffered at times with nervous debility. The spell would last from several weeks to three or four months, and at such times life was a burden. I was so tired and had so little energy that it seemed hardly worth while to try and breathe.

"In June, 1892, I felt one of those spells coming on, and as at that time I was rushed with work, both mental and physical and was likely to be for months, I was almost in despair. It seemed to me that I could not give up my work. Suddenly it occurred to me to try Paine's Celery Compound. I sent for a bottle immediately and began taking it, and was surprised to find that at the end of four days I was feeling pretty well. When I had taken one bottle I was better than usual and praised the medicine not only loudly but continuously. It seemed wonderful to me to find a cure for my trouble and to be cured so quickly."

Paine's Celery Compound the Favorite Medicine of the Army.

One soldier remarked when he came back from Santiago, "It seems as though nearly every soldier you met was a friend to Paine's Celery Compound." It is certain that this great medicine was of inestimable value to those soldiers who used it.

It regulates the digestion, purifies the blood, and invigorates the nerves.

It prevents malaria and the fevers that are so common in warm climates.

Both volunteers and regulars speak in praise of Paine's Celery Compound, and it is today the most popular blood purifier and nerve invigorator that can be found. Officers and privates can find nothing better, and it is significant that nearly as many endorsements have been received from the men who wear shoulder straps as from those who are in the ranks, proving beyond question that those who have money to buy the best, can find nothing that equals Paine's Celery Compound.

From the many testimonials received from the gallant defenders of our nation's honor, we print the following from W. H. Chenoweth, Jr., Capt. Co. I, 1st Ill. Infantry:

"Upon my return from the Santiago campaign in Cuba, I was in need of a tonic and started to take Paine's Celery Compound, and it has given the desired results.

"My father, a veteran of two wars, has been taking the Compound for a number of years and has kept in good health."

Journalists and Newspaper Men Find Health and Vigor.

Paine's Celery Compound Keeps the Brain Clear, the Nerves Strong, and the Health in Perfect Condition.

Newspaper workers are subject to unusual cares, overwork, and sudden demands upon their nervous strength.

Their nerves are incessantly called upon to withstand severe strains as though they were of iron or steel; their work is usually done at racing speed, and the result is shattered nerves, impure blood, and nervous prostration.

No other class of workers in the country suffers the great mental and physical strain that comes to newspaper men, and hence it is natural to find that Paine's Celery Compound is the friend in time of need in nearly every newspaper office in this country. Editors, reporters, business managers, typesetters, and in fact all who have anything to do with a newspaper soon learn to rely upon Paine's Celery Compound, the scientific strength-giver.

From the scores of endorsements received from well known editors and newspaper men, we select the following statement from John B. Wright, editor of the Haverhill, Mass., Gazette, who was so long on the Boston Herald. He says:

"It is with great pleasure that I bear testimony to the beneficial results which almost invariably follow the use of that king of all remedies, Paine's Celery Compound. As a tonic free from all deleterious materials, it has to my way of thinking, no equal. This remedy is a positive boon to all nerve-wrecked men of business. I unhesitatingly recommend it to all persons who are, as I was, thoroughly worn out."

Grocers and Storekeepers Gain Perfect Health by Paine's Celery Compound.

The indoor life of the grocer and shopkeeper almost invariably leads to years of sickness and disease. Indigestion, rheumatism, sleeplessness, and nervous troubles come insidiously and almost without warning. His business cares give no time for exercise, and the result is that unless a pure and scientific medicine is used, he becomes a chronic invalid.

All storekeepers, and in fact all men and women who live an indoor life, should use Paine's Celery Compound at the first approach of weakness.

This great medicine gives an abundance of nerve force and strength, purifies the blood, and restores the whole system to perfect health and vigor.

No better example can be given of its power to cure than the following testimonial from E. E. Towne, the popular grocer of Newtonville, Mass. Mr. Towne was cured several years ago, and he is today still praising Paine's Celery Compound, showing that this medicine is the one remedy that makes permanent and lasting cures. He writes:

"I had spent thousands of dollars in hospitals and at different springs in trying to cure sciatic rheumatism. Almost every known remedy, both internal and external, was tried, but results were not satisfactory; no cure was effected. Early in 1894 I was taken with very violent suffering, pain night and day. I tried various remedies for two months, but with no help.

As another experiment I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound. I began to improve at once, before using up one bottle. The pains grew less, my appetite grew better, and I began to get sound and refreshing sleep, and have gained in three months 15 pounds. I have only taken six bottles, but am nearly well. It did for me in three months what other medicines did not do in years. The example is plain."

Paine's Celery Compound.

Favorite Medicine With Members of the Fraternal Orders.

The motto of nearly all prominent secret societies, is Help one another.

Perhaps this explains the great popularity of Paine's Celery Compound among the members of the various fraternal orders of the United States.

There certainly is no other medicine that has so many firm friends and enthusiastic users amongst Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Foresters, and other societies and brotherhoods as Paine's Celery Compound, and this is undoubtedly due to the fact that when one member has been cured, he recommends it to others who are sick.

Paine's Celery Compound can be depended upon to always fulfill its promises. It strengthens the nerves, improves digestion, cures kidney disease, and regulates the liver and bowels.

Its cures are permanent and it has achieved a sale greater than that of all other medicines combined among members of the different fraternal orders.

Col. A. J. Criss, of Canton, Ohio, commander of the 8th Regiment of Uniformed Knights of Pythias was cured of catarrh of the head and stomach by Paine's Celery Compound in 1891. He had used many other remedies before taking Paine's Celery Compound, but none of them did him any good. Several years after his cure, he wrote again, stating that the cure had been permanent, and that he had recommended the medicine to his friends and those who had used it had been greatly benefited.

Nurses Say Nothing Is so Good as Paine's Celery Compound to Build Up the Weak.

There is no denying the fact that nurses know more about recovery from sickness than almost any other class of people.

They are constantly with the patient, and see all stages of convalescence, and they often find that the usual remedies are of no avail in restoring strength and health. They know that Paine's Celery Compound has no equal in restoring the rosy blush of health to pale cheeks and bringing back strength and vigor to the wasted body.

If one is run down, feels lifeless, and out of sorts, or is unable to recover strength after a fever, the grip, or other weakening disease, use Paine's Celery Compound and see how quickly it will give vigor and strength.

Mrs. Nathan Beals of Gallup's Mills, Vt., has had years of experience in nursing, and the following statement from her carries with it the weight of knowledge and authority. She says:

"For ten months before I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound, I could not put my foot on the first round of my chair, only five inches from the floor. I had nearly lost the use of my left side, and I could not lift a pound weight with the left hand without danger of dropping it. Many times I would lift something at the table, only to drop it. I had a pressure in the top of my head and a pain at the base of the brain, which would leave me so nervous that I used to tell my husband I would surely go crazy. I could not keep still nights, and Sundays were just awful to me. I found my whole system prostrated, and it took a long time to build up my poor, worn-out nerves. I think that Paine's Celery Compound saved me from the insane hospital, as well as cured my rheumatism."

Builders and Contractors Find Paine's Celery Compound of Inestimable Value.

The One Medicine That Can be Depended Upon to Make Permanent Cures of Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Kidney Troubles.

The busy life of the contractor and builder who is exposed to all kinds of weather and who rarely takes sufficient time for meals or rest, is sure to result in sickness and suffering. With some it is rheumatism, with others dyspepsia, or it may be kidney trouble. You rarely see a builder who does not suffer at least part of the year with one of these three diseases and often times he is afflicted with a complication of all.

Paine's Celery Compound has done marvellous good to those builders and contractors who have used it, as it drives from the blood the poison that results in rheumatism or kidney trouble, strengthens the nerves, and regulates the digestive organs. There is no other medicine that is so peculiarly adapted to the needs of all out door workers and all those whose life is a continual hustle and bustle as Paine's Celery Compound.

A. F. Kelley, one of the best known contractors and builders in New York state, whose residence is at South Dayton, writes :

"I took two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound about six months ago. It cured me of dyspepsia, and I have not found it necessary to take any since. When I began the latter part of last winter to take the Compound, I was just a sight to behold, but take a good look at my accompanying photograph and see if you can detect any ravages of the disease. I will unhesitatingly pronounce Paine's Celery Compound a marvellous medicine."

Paine's Celery Compound For Weak and Sickly Wives.

It Gives That Perfect Condition of Body That Makes a Woman Happy.

Farmers' wives should be women of robust health, with strong nerves and pure blood. They have Heaven's fresh air to breathe from day to day, and a host of advantages are theirs that can never be realized or enjoyed by women of crowded towns and cities.

Notwithstanding the many blessings of country life, the farmer's wife has her trials, tribulations and times of suffering. Thousands, through overwork and the pressure of family cares and anxieties, have become physically weak, debilitated, nervous, dyspeptic, rheumatic, neuralgic and sleepless, and the seeds of disease have poisoned the life blood.

When sickness comes and the symptoms of disease are apparent, the farmer's wife needs the same life-giving medicine that her city sister makes use of—Paine's Celery Compound—to restore nervous energy and lost strength.

No other medicine in the world has ever attained such a standing in our rural and country homes. It is justly popular because it has done so much for women in the past. It is woman's true and unfailing regulator, it supplies all needed nerve force, builds up wasted tissue and muscle, keeps the blood pure, and gives a consciousness of full and perfect health that makes one happy. A trial of one bottle will convince any doubting woman that Paine's Celery Compound "makes sick people well."

Mrs. Virginia Shephard of Powellton, W. Va., writes:

"I have been sick for eight years, and no tongue can tell what I have suffered. I would have spells of nervous headache when I would keep my bed for five and six days, and could not raise my head off the pillow. Then I would get numb all over, and they would have to rub and work over me to keep me alive, and I would have sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, but thanks to Paine's Celery Compound, and I cannot praise it enough, I have not had a headache for six weeks, a thing I could not say before in eight years. Your Compound has almost raised me from the grave, as I had given up all hopes of this life until my husband read one of your pamphlets. After I had been using the medicine four days I felt better than I had for three years."

The Chosen and Favorite Medicine of America's Most Eminent Lawyers.

Paine's Celery Compound
Maintains the Strength, Keeps the Brain Clear and the Blood Pure and Clean.

The experience of the ablest lawyers and judges in the United States with Paine's Celery Compound proves it to be the right medicine for use when suffering from sleeplessness, nervousness, debility, prostration and acute dyspepsia, results of overwork, loss of rest, irregular dieting and mental anxiety.

The truly successful lawyer must keep the system well and generously nourished with pure blood if he would avoid insomnia and starved nerves, two baneful troubles that shorten so many lives in the profession of law. No other medicine known to medical men can so well maintain a healthful blood supply, perfect circulation and ideal nerve regulation as Paine's Celery Compound.

For long years Paine's Celery Compound has been the chosen medicine of the best people in every profession and calling, doing a work that no other medicine could ever accomplish.

Amongst the prominent legal lights who have spoken publicly in favor of Paine's Celery Compound is E. D. Clayton, of Pennsboro, W. Va., who wrote in 1895 :

"I have been troubled for years with nervous debility, which brought about an irregular appetite and considerable nervousness. I consulted eminent physicians and took their treatment, but nothing did me as much good as Paine's Celery Compound. In fact, it straightened me out and did the work."

Mr. Clayton's Cure was Permanent He Wrote Two Years Later.

"I have had no occasion to use Paine's Celery Compound since I last wrote you, but several parties have told me they used it on my recommend with good results. I have great faith in its merits."

Hundreds of Cures of Firemen and Policemen, by Paine's Celery Compound.

Strong Nerves and a Clear Brain Can be Gained Only by Using
This Great Medicine.

Ask any fireman or policeman what is his favorite medicine, and the chances are at least nine out of ten that his answer will be Paine's Celery Compound. Men holding positions of peril and responsibility need strong nerves and a clear brain, and there is nothing that will so surely strengthen the nerves and give vigor to brain and body as this wonderful medicine. Many testimonials have been received from chiefs of fire departments and chiefs of police, who hold these responsible positions in the largest cities of the country, while scores of endorsements have come from their policemen and firemen.

The position of chief of the fire department of a big city like Minneapolis can only be entrusted to a man of unquestioned character and ability. August H. Runge has filled this responsible position for several years with great credit to himself. What such a man has to say cannot fail to carry weight. He writes:

"With the hope that what I say may in some way be brought to the attention of others who like myself have suffered without any apparent cause, I feel constrained to recite a brief tale regarding an experience which I trust may never be repeated in my case.

"A few months ago, owing doubtless to the exacting nature of my duties as head of the fire department, I began to feel a sort of languor and listlessness, to disguise which, I was compelled to bring into play all the strength of will I could command. The feeling grew upon me, however, and in a short time it took such possession of me that it affected my appetite and caused insomnia. I approached my meals with a feeling amounting almost to nausea, and my bed with horror at the restless night which I was almost certain was before me. Matters became so serious with me that I could no longer keep silent about myself, and speaking of it to one of my friends one day, he suggested that I try Paine's Celery Compound. I purchased a bottle, and before I had taken a dozen doses I knew that the suggestion was a good one. I felt an improvement. I continued to use it and felt restored. My appetite is good, I sleep well, and instead of an irksome grind my business is again a pleasure to me. I attribute this happy state of affairs solely to Paine's Celery Compound."

Physicians Prescribe Paine's Celery Compound.

The Best Known
Doctors of All
Schools Advise
Their Patients to Take Paine's
Celery Compound
As a Spring Medicine.

No class of professional men are more conservative, more careful in giving advice, or more painstaking in finding out the real facts of a case than physicians.

When physicians of known repute not only prescribe the use, but also bring home Paine's Celery Compound for their own families, there can be no doubt of its high standing in the eyes of medical men in general. This is exactly what the most successful physicians are doing these spring days all over the country. Paine's Celery Compound is not a patent medicine, but the discovery of the foremost physician of this century, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College. It stands today as the one thoroughly authenticated remedy for weakness and debility due to impure blood, shattered nerves, and run down condition of the system.

From the endorsements of physicians who publicly recommend Paine's Celery Compound, we select the testimonial of N. M. Leaneard, M. D., 384 Main street, Charlestown, Mass., one of the ablest physicians in Massachusetts and a man of character and influence, who says: "After using Paine's Celery Compound for four or five years in my general practice, I can cheerfully recommend it. For catarrh of head or stomach, for instance, it acts like a charm. For women in many cases it is a blessing. For chronic rheumatism, it does give relief. Torpid liver, general debility, constipation, pains in the stomach, and loss of appetite, it relieves, and is the best of remedies in general nervous prostration. I recommend it to many of my patients, believing, as I do, in its real merits. I believe it a public blessing to invalids."

Telegraphers and Electricians Find Strength for Shattered Nerves in Paine's Celery Compound.

Nothing puts a more severe strain upon the nerves than the constant work of the telegrapher. If there is any one class of people in this country that needs Paine's Celery Compound, it is the telegraphers and all who work with electricity. There is scarcely a day passes but what there comes a moment when a clear brain, strong nerves, and quick decision are necessary, and if the health is weak, this strain cannot be withstood, and collapse will follow.

It is not strange that thousands of telegraphers and electricians depend upon Paine's Celery Compound to keep them well. Every change for the worse in health is generally betrayed by loss of weight and a pinched thinness of the face. The blood becomes thin, the skin dry and harsh, and the nerves weak and easily shocked. Take heed from these warnings and gain health and strength by using Paine's Celery Compound.

Increased appetite, better digestion, and a final cure of stomach disorders and nervous derangement will follow its use.

From the many testimonials received from telegraphers, we give the following, which is specially appropriate at this time when the country is again suffering from the ravages of the grip:

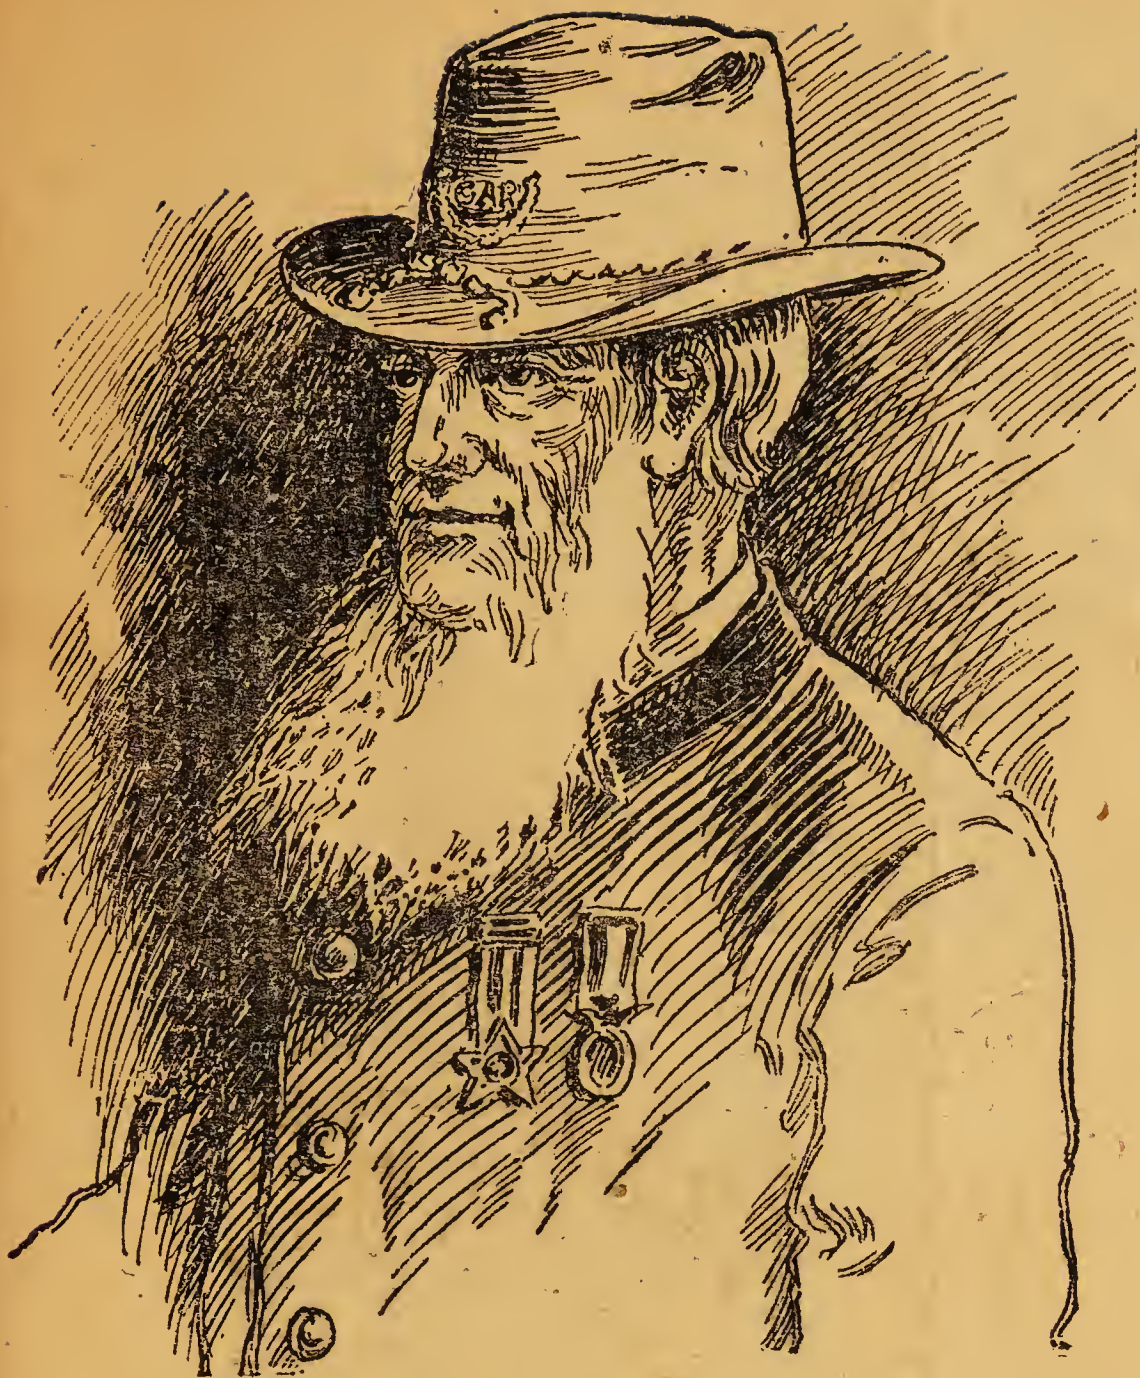

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH CO.,

RUTHERFORD COLLEGE, N. C.,

April 25, 1898.

GENTLEMEN:—I want to add my little mite to the good name of Paine's Celery Compound. During the winter of '97, while employed by the Norfolk & Western Railway, I was very sick with the grip, and could find no physicians that could do me any good. For nearly three months, the ends of my nerves were so affected that my flesh would swell up as though I had been stung with bees all over my body. After everything failed, I tried Paine's Celery Compound, and after using the first bottle, was not bothered by the grip any more. I gladly give you this testimonial.

L. B. ABERNETHY, Operator.

Soldiers of the Union Saved from Suffering and Death by Paine's Celery Compound.

It is natural that the years of hardship and war should leave a heritage of suffering and sickness, and it is seldom one finds a member of the G. A. R. who can say that he is in perfect health and strength.

More Paine's Celery Compound is used to-day in the old soldiers' homes than all other medicines combined and the veterans have learned to rely upon this great remedy as a strength-giver for their shattered nerves and a cure for their kidney and liver troubles.

This great medicine is no ordinary tonic, but a true medicine that gives health and strength. From the thousands of testimonials we have had from soldiers of the Civil War, we print two letters from William A. Locke, written at an interval of three years, which prove beyond question that Paine's Celery Compound cures to stay cured.

RUTLAND, IOWA, May 7, 1894.

GENTLEMEN:—During the late war I was so unfortunate as to be a prisoner of war for more than twenty months. I was paroled at Goldsborough, N. C., March 1, 1865, and then weighed 120 pounds, was suffering from several camp diseases, and never have been well since.

Two years ago last January I had a severe attack of la grippe, which left me with a new disease, pronounced by the doctors Bright's disease. I took buchu, tritica, and an advertised cure, but they did no permanent good.

Seeing Paine's Celery Compound advertised, I thought I would try that, and before I had taken two bottles, I was apparently as well as I had been in a number of years. Occasionally, however, when I take a cold, the symptoms of the dread disease appear, but a dose or two of the Compound dissipates it at once. I keep a bottle by me all the time and consider it an incomparable medicine.

Respectfully yours,

WM. A. LOCKE.

RUTLAND, IOWA, June 16, 1897.

GENTLEMEN:—I am now sixty-nine years old. Five years ago Paine's Celery Compound cured me of that dreadful disease, Bright's disease of the kidneys, and I am now recommending it to my old army comrades, many of whom are suffering from kindred diseases. I also believe it is the best medicine to give new vigor to old age that I have ever known.

WM. A. LOCKE.
